TJCII Israel - A Home Away From Home
By Bracha Cale

In October 2016, TJCII's Executive Leadership decided to open a TJCII office in Jerusalem to serve the administrative needs of the Israel Committee. The office officially opened on March 1st, 2017. It is located in the pastoral suite of the King of Kings Assembly in the center of Jerusalem. The office is managed by Bracha who recently immigrated to Israel from Dallas, Texas, where she served TJCII as an intercessor and as worship leader of Baruch HaShem Messianic Synagogue for many years.

The strategic move to establish a TJCII office in the historic birthplace of the church has been fruitful. The TJCII initiative has expanded within Israel and has impacted Christians visiting Israel from the nations.

Two major achievements were accomplished during the first year: the translation of the TJCII Vision booklet into Hebrew which was distributed to Israeli Messianic leaders, and the development of an Israeli intercessory prayer group that represents the one new man described by Shaul (Paul) in Ephesians 2:15.

During the second year, TJCII Israel developed new relationships with Christians visiting from the nations who wanted to build bridges to connect with the Israeli Messianic Jewish community, and to pray for the healing and unity of the body of Messiah (Christ). Some of the individuals who caught the vision returned to their home nations and shared it with their pastors and prayer groups.

Recently, the reception of international TJCII volunteers has emerged as an essential activity of TJCII Israel. We extend a warm welcome to our TJCII family from the Nations and provide valuable information about the work of TJCII in Israel.

If you have plans to visit Jerusalem, please visit our office or join one of our TJCII prayer meetings in the city of the Great King!

Eyal is a native-born Israeli. He comes from a secular Jewish family. He came to a living faith in Yeshua the Messiah in 2001. He has been part of the TJCII family since 2004. Eyal is one of the leaders of the young people of the NOW Generation of TJCII in Jerusalem and Europe since 2009.

International Leadership Council (ILC) Meeting in Jerusalem

By Eyal Friedman

The annual International Leadership Council (ILC) meeting this year in Jerusalem will be important and challenging. The more we recognize that the TJCII vision and its realization, by God's grace, are a long-term endeavor, the more we understand the need to prepare the next generation of servants to carry on the work of TJCII.

This year will be the first time that some younger leaders have been invited to attend the ILC meetings and younger people to participate in the intercession before and during the ILC meeting.

A major issue that will undoubtedly come up in the week-long discussions is what would our response and stance be regarding the current crisis that is going on within the Catholic Church. We have a responsibility to clarify and articulate TJCII's position since there are members of the Catholic Church who participate in the TJCII vision.

A heated debate is currently going on in Israel regarding the affiliation of some of the TJCII leaders and supporters with the NAR (New Apostolic Reformation). This has to do with the restoration of the apostolic and prophetic ministries in the Messianic Jewish Body. The implications of such a connection on the local Messianic Body has influenced the way some local leaders regard TJCII.

While these are difficult and challenging issues, it is necessary to address them for the restructuring and aligning of the Body of Messiah both locally and universally in order for a second council to take place in Jerusalem.

It is such a privilege to be part of this important prophetic work of the Holy Spirit. Let us then pray for wisdom, patience and humility for the ILC to proceed in a way that is fruitful for the sake of the Kingdom of God.
