TJCII Formation Center Hainburg, Austria

Viera Prokopcova

I come from Slovakia and live in Bratislava. I am a Roman Catholic and met the Lord when I was 19. Since then, the Lord placed on my heart the love for unity in His Body, Israel & nations and the desire for His second coming.

In 2012, I heard about TJCII and felt a call to be involved. I am currently part of Slovak TJCII national team, TJCII Now Generation and together with Paula Leitner, we are coordinators for intercession in Europe.

Opening of TJCII Formation Center

By Rabbi Marty Waldman

I started my European journey last May by visiting with our TJCII group in the Netherlands. From there, I went to Vienna to be part of the opening of TJCII's Formation Center in Hainburg.

The Formation Center is a place for training young adults who are interested in serving the LORD with TJCII.

These young adults from various countries around the world represented a powerful move of GOD's Holy Spirit. Each student sacrificed time, energy and finances in order to undergo training and discipleship with a focus on TJCII.

During their 6 weeks together, they all lived in the same house (Fr. Peter Hocken's home in Hainburg), cooked, cleaned, shared household duties and studied together. The bonds of friendship and sense of family that was formed also lent itself to the discipleship process. The team of people who gathered together in order to facilitate this time of learning and formation was absolutely superb and are humble servants of Yeshua.

The opportunity to teach and interact with the students and facilitating team was very special. But, beyond teaching, I discovered that forming relationships and bonding with all those in the house was so precious. Having spent only two days with them, it was hard to leave a group of dedicated students.

Sharing the vision of TJCII through Scriptures and stories was easy because of the students' eagerness to know more and grow closer to Yeshua.

I'm an early to bed and early to rise kind of guy but when I tried to retire for the evening, a group of students would ask if I could sit with them to answer questions and share more of my life experience. Rolling my eyes in weariness was not an option because these informal times with everyone became time of great joy in Yeshua. It reminded me of Yeshua's words in John 4... "My food is not of this world..."

By necessity, I had to leave after two days to go to Lithuania for the TJCII Eastern European Conference.

My entire European journey was very fulfilling with the presence of the Almighty in each country I visited. Two days of teaching was the highlight of my travel in Europe. The TJCII Formation Center was so special and filled with a future hope with these "spiritually hungry" young adults.

Thanks to each of you who prayed for and supported this inaugural time of training. Much fruit for the Kingdom of GOD will come forth from all those who attended and served the TJCII Formation Center.
